Hall Opening' Big Success

The opening of the new Community Hall on Friday night drew one of the largest gatherings of people ever assembled in Champion in the winter for any purpose. Although the hall is one of the most commodious buildings of the kind to be found in the country, its capacity was taxed to the utmost by the big crowd.

The banquet began promptly at 6:00 o'clock and in a few minutes the tables with a seating capacity of 180 were filled and before everyone had been fed many of the tables had been set a third time. The tables were beautifully decorated with yellow daffodils and candles, in addition to splendid table equipment of every kind, the eatables were beyond criticism and the service was prompt and highly satisfactory. It is a rare occasion when anything like the number of people have been banded so efficiently as in this instance and the increased facilities of the hall were not altogether responsible for any means.

Following the banquet adjournment was made to the splendid auditorium where a short program was given. This included numbers by the Len Davis Orchestra, a reading by Mrs. Stout, a solo by Len Davis, violin solo by Miss Gladys Rhodes with Miss Stephenson at the piano, a solo by G. M. Campbell with Miss Rheta Campbell as accompanist followed by an encore in which Miss Rhodes joined in the accompaniment, vocal selections by the High School Sextette with Miss Fleming as pianist which were greatly enjoyed. This was followed by a sketch in which the High School sextette, Misses K. Campbell, E. Orr, H. Bozarth and Masters D. Stephenson, D. Bond and J. McNaughton, were joined by Harry Taylor. This effort was very well received. It would be invidious to mention individuals or numbers particularly in this instance. Everything was well rendered and met with generous applause. G. L. Dupue, the chairman of the evening explained the financial situation with regard to the hall, which was regarded as quite satisfactory. A feature of the evening was the dispatch of a handsome bouquet to J. M. Moffatt, chairman of the board of directors who was ill and unable to be present, the audience joined heartily in singing "For he's a jolly good fellow."

At the dance which followed the concert some five hundred took part, the commodious hall being crowded. Splendid music was furnished by the Len Davis orchestra and everyone enjoyed themselves to the utmost. At twelve o'clock supper was served to the dancers and later all were going again and continued until two o'clock.

Appreciation of the handsome building and its appointments was general, the splendid dancing floor coming in for its share of honors. The arrangements throughout and the way in which everything was handled was highly gratifying and those in charge are to be congratulated for the completeness of their work.

The banquet and supper was served by the ladies of the community with Mrs. G. F. Smith in charge. It is almost unnecessary to say that nothing better could have been offered those who attended.

Elks' Installation Largely Attended

The Champion B. P. O. Elks installation of officers on Tuesday, Feb. 26th, was the outstanding function of the season. In this instance the installation, in charge of S. Savage, grand secretary of the order was public and the audience was very much impressed with the ceremony. Addresses by Mr. Savage and Dr. Spankie of Calgary were features of the evening.

A banquet at which some two hundred sat down was one of the finest ever held here, being highly appreciated by local members and visitors, who were present in large number from all adjoining towns.

A dance with the Len Davis orchestra supplying the music concluded the evening's program. Following are the officers installed:

Ladies' Aid Is Active

The Ladies' Aid met at the Parsonage on Thursday with a large attendance, thirty ladies being present. An interesting feature was the presentation of gifts to the out going officers. An Easter tea was planned for March 30th also a bake sale. Rev. S. H. Hunt addressed the meeting for a few minutes on church membership. The fancy work will be handled in a different way this year. The president appointed four groups and a convener for each which will make the work much easier to handle. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Ryan's on March 21st. Mrs. U. G. Anderson and Mrs. Manhard will assist in serving.

The committee in charge of dining room, for the evening of opening, the new community hall wish to thank the public for their liberal contributions and splendid co-operation in making this part of the opening such a social and financial success.

Ladies' you will find your dishes in vestibule on south side of hall. Some of the pans cannot be found, if you have taken one by mistake please make the exchange as soon as possible.

Easter Tea And Bake Sale

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The necessity of care in the selection of seed grain this year has been emphasized from every direction during the winter. There is so much damaged grain in the country that fears of its use for seed to general regret are perhaps well founded. If at all possible sow nothing but seed you are sure of.

The close of the shortest month in the year and the beginning of March means that spring and spring's work is again at the door. Already signs of spring are showing themselves in the stocks carried in the stores and conversation is already more or less laden with spring problems. One feature of the situation is the optimism abroad with regard to this year's crop—there is no doubt in anyone's mind as to the fact that this will be a banner year—at least if there is nothing said about it.

There have been some fairly strenuous debates in the provincial legislature this week, particularly with reference to amendments to the Grain Pool Act. Opposition to the bill before the house advanced the opinion that the new act would give the Pool arbitrary powers from which the private members would have no appeal. The liberal leader was of the opinion the Pool should run itself to suit itself. The bill passed its second reading and is now in committee.

With the beginning of March interest in spring operations will be apparent in every direction. While the date of the beginning of work on the land has varied considerably year by year every farmer feels he should be ready for active operations any time after April first. In consequence preparations must be completed during the month of March.

Ponoka has been very much in the limelight recently. While the general statement there was undoubtedly greatly aggravated by one fatality which occurred, it would appear that better supervision of this institution is a matter of necessity if public sentiment is to be appeased. There is too great an opening for brutality in handling the violently insane to have any doubtful people enrolled on the staff of an institution carried on for their protection.

It is a matter for congratulation that the different "strikes" made in Turner Valley of late have not led to another boom market for oil stock as occurred at an earlier period. The speculative market is dangerous enough without being boosted out of sight by every new well brought in.

The Bracken government in Manitoba is in trouble because wo of the ministers were dealing in Winnipeg Electric Railway stock while the government was negotiating with the company over the transfer of a power site. The premier feels certain his colleagues were innocent of any intention of wrongdoing, but the public at large is not so easily satisfied in such matters and not only the ministers involved but the innocent are likely to suffer in consequence.

not promising and it was the general opinion throughout the district that the average season was too short and cold for corn to become an important crop. However, earlier seedling, the introduction of better varieties and the use of northern grown seed, have, during recent years, shown that corn can be grown to good advantage for ensilage purposes. In most seasons should be done between the first and tenth of May.

The varieties which have been giving best results from the standpoint of ensilage are the northern grown strains of Northwestern Dent and the Honey strain of Minnesota No. 13. One of the Northwestern Dent strains has ripened two years out of the five it has been on test on irrigated land, and its average yield of dry matter for the past three years has been three tons, 1270 pounds per acre. Minnesota No. 23, a variety which has only been grown in Alberta for the last two seasons, is a very promising one for districts requiring an earlier variety than Northwestern Dent for ensilage purposes. It resembles Northwestern Dent closely in its type of growth, the stalks being slightly shorter, but of good size with the ears placed well above the ground so that it can be cut satisfactorily with a binder.

Of the varieties best suited for grain or hogging-off purposes Gehu, Kakoa White Flint, Improved Square, Matilda and Howe's Alta. Flint in the order mentioned are most worthy of recommendation, Matilda and Howe's Alta. Flint are available earlier than the first three mentioned varieties, but yield much less and therefore should be used only in districts requiring extreme earliness.

THE CHRONICLE, Champion.

The Battle of January

January was a momentous month for wheat producers the world over. Canadian farmers have delivered nearly four hundred million bushels of wheat. Argentina and Australia were commencing the delivery of unusually large crops. There was an immense visible supply of wheat. The market commenced to sag. The one optimistic feature in a rather gloomy picture was the Canadian Wheat Pool. Just what the Pool stood for is told in candid language by George Broomhall, the British grain authority, in "Milling".

"Prices were put down on the plan that Argentina must sell more of her new crop, and, in fact, shippers did put out lower offers, and some Canadian sellers followed the downward lead.

"But it was soon found that the Canadian Pool refused to offer or sell at the lower prices, and, of course, this gave Argentine shippers courage to work for a reaction.

"The action of the Canadian Pool also gave buyers confidence, and they could not find they needed wheat, but that they could pay better rates for it.

"As long as sellers were willing to 'cut' prices, buyers were quite prepared to stand back and let them do still more 'cutting,' and quite possibly there might have been a bad slump had not the Canadian Pool taken a strong stand.

The Canadian Pool Managers

certainly deserve credit for courageous handling of a difficult situation, and their action proves that farmer members of the Pool would not agree to low prices at this period of the season.

"The lesson of the price movements of wheat in the past week is that emphasis must be given to the power of strong holders to maintain prices.

"Past experience showed that a crowd of weak holders was almost at the mercy of buyers in times of plenty.

"I think all must now recognize the commanding position of the Canadian Pool, and the readiness of Argentine shippers to follow a strong upward lead.

Power and Its Dangers

Down through the ages man has striven for power, and yet more power. From the biblical story of creation we learn that man was given power and dominion over the beasts of the field, and thus early in his career set out to establish his power over all the forces of nature. From the time down to the present with ever increasing agencies and energy man has sought for power.

It is recorded of Alexander the Great that, having conquered the then known world, he sighed for more worlds to conquer. Egypt under the Pharaohs, Rome under the Caesars, Carthage, Greece, all the great empires of the past strove for power, and, having attained it, were ultimately destroyed by it. The same was true of Napoleon, and in the lifetime of the present generation it has again been proven in the case of the ex-Kaiser, Wilhelm.

By way of contrast the history of Britain during the last one thousand years may be noted. The British Empire is today the most powerful political entity in the world. It has gone through the ages, and its power has increased in power, not through the automatic use of its power, but, by a paradox, in continually and voluntarily relinquishing powers which it enjoyed to subordinate peoples and colonies, raising their status, conferring new powers on them, and creating them to be in the end equal to themselves. The most dangerous period in Britain's history was when it did not pursue such a course and sought to impose its will upon the thirteen American colonies. At that time instead of gaining or retaining power, it lost it. That lesson has never been forgotten by British statesmen.

Power wielded wisely will increase, but exercised unwisely and automatically it will destroy itself. This is just as true in the case of individuals, corporations, and nations. It is in the case of individuals, corporations, and nations. It is especially true of monopolies of all kinds, and it is because monopolies have and do make use of their power unfairly and selfishly that there has developed such a large body of public opinion favorable to the principle and operation of public utility services which in their very nature must be monopolistic, as, for example, railways, telephones, electric power systems.

In the early days of Western Canada the C.P.R. enjoyed a monopoly in transportation. It was rather automatic, perhaps in those days it had to be, but its management was wise and far-seeing, and, in later years, using its great power for the good of the country, it has grown still more powerful, powerful and successful, and, at the same time, stronger in the esteem and goodwill of the people.

The organized grain trade of Canada wielded great power, but, not being so amenable to public opinion, it has lost much of its power. It is still inclined to be selfish and in that fact lies its danger, because it cannot be denied that it is losing instead of gaining in public favor, with the inevitable result that year by year it is being hedged about with greater restrictions and a larger measure of public control.

The same danger confronts the great banking institutions of the country, and the people are becoming increasingly restive under the steady absorption of small banks by the larger ones. The banks may, for the time being, become more powerful, but there is always a danger that the people themselves, and the banks may succeed in becoming so consolidated and powerful, that it will become all the simpler for the people to step in and take their powers to the nation itself.

In this electrical age, with its coal resources, and electrical distribution systems are the very life-blood of industry. Upon them is dependent most of the conveniences of modern life. Control of electrical development means great power, both directly and indirectly. Financial magnates and capitalists of industry are fully alive to this fact, and there is keen competition throughout the world, and especially on this continent, to obtain such control. It means power in a double sense. It is the life question in the Dominion Parliament, and the Alberta Legislature, and the Alberta Legislature is now in session, as it was the outstanding question before the Saskatchewan Legislature recently prorogued. It is the biggest issue in Ontario and Quebec, and the outstanding problem at present affecting the relations of Canada and the United States.

In Ontario the controlling factor are the people themselves through their Provincially-owned system. The Saskatchewan Government has adopted the same policy, but unfortunately the situation is not so satisfactory in Manitoba and Alberta. And now come reports that United States interests are seeking to secure control of Canadian companies operating in the west, which would have the effect of bringing this country within the tentacles of the big American Power Trust.

In the first place, and most important, governments and people of western Canada should be alert to prevent any such absorption, and, in the second place, the big power interests should fully realize that, if they overstep the mark, they will take the matter into their own hands and take back to themselves in the name of their governments, the resources and power to be developed and managed in their own interests.

Finally, a word of warning to corporations and associations generally. It is possible through large memberships and the accumulation of great assets to become powerful. Such power, as already stated, wisely employed, is a good thing and will bring greater power and influence. But here, too, are found elements of danger. There is a danger of demand by members to use this power for other purposes and in other ways than was originally intended to attempt to exercise that power in other fields. To do so is to invite disaster, because, as all history proves, the masses of the people will not acquiesce, but, in such exercise of power, the power itself will be lost.

Rights of Grain Growers

Courts May Determine Matter of Designating Grain Terminal

A reference to the courts in order to determine the rights of the grain growers of western Canada in the matter of designating the terminal to which their grain may be sent is now likely, consequent upon the instructions issued to the board of grain commissioners by Hon. James Macdonald, minister of trade and commerce. The minister endorsed the suggestion of the board that such action be taken and that the expense be incurred by the board. In this way it is hoped to straighten out the difficulties that have accumulated with regard to the contractual relations entered into between:

(a) The farmers and their wheat pools; and
(b) The pools and the grain trade. Pending the outcome of this it is not expected that any action will be taken by the government along the lines of abolishing the board of grain commissioners, as suggested in various resolutions passed by a number of farmers organizations.

It is estimated that a person at the height of 5,000 feet can see approximately 90 miles on a clear day.

No Time For Train Travel

Lindbergh Finds Airplane Best Way To Get Around

When Col. Lindbergh set out in the first week of February in a flight to inaugurate the air mail service between Florida and the Canal Zone, he was asked how long it had been since he had travelled in a railroad train.

"More than a year and a half—before I flew to Paris," he replied. Since he learned to fly, Col. Lindbergh, up to the time of the Florida-Panama flight, had covered 270,000 miles in flight. This distance is equal to about eleven times the circumference of the earth. The time he had spent in the air totaled 8,000 hours, or about four months of the year. In 1928 he was 800 hours in the air, or more than thirty-three days. In this time his flights totaled 68,000 miles.

"I wouldn't have time to go to so many places if I didn't fly," he said.

Here is proof of the power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to banish these disastrous after-effects of influenza. Mrs. W. J. Bradford, of Canada, writes: "I can recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they cured me on the road to health after other medicines had failed. I was in bed for several days after an attack of influenza and my friends thought that I would never get up. I tried remedy after remedy without relief till my mother begged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and got me a supply. I began using them and before they were all gone I could get up. They were helping me so my husband and I were able to get on our feet. I continued taking them for some time and they fully restored my health. Anchored in the Air

Chicago Aviator Kept Plane Motionless For An Hour

It is not unusual for a dirigible to hover over a spot for considerable time. But an aviator at the municipal airport at Chicago, recently kept a plane in the air virtually motionless for an hour. The aviator headed into it. He throttled his motor in such a way that the pull of the plane against forward just balanced the pressure of the wind driving it backward. The result was precisely no progress in either direction. The experiment was interesting, but it probably solves no problems, since a stiff wind is not always liable for hovering purposes. Some day, however, there will doubtless be developed a device which will enable planes to stay in the air without virtually motionless. That will mean a long step toward safety.

What He Must Know

A young farmer can get along very well without a knowledge of Latin or Greek, but to succeed he must know something of soils, of pests, of fungous diseases and a dozen other subjects that confront him every day. Education is necessary, but not the kind that education speaks of; it is discipline; hard knocks and adversity will accomplish that.

Harnessing the Churchill

Most Northerly Hydro Development On Large Scale In Canada

There is more than a touch of romance in connection with the announcement that early next month the first electric power will be developed and will be available for use on the Churchill River. The Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company has an initial development of 2,000 horse-power almost completed to be used in connection with the work of bringing to the larger development of 40,000 horse-power which is required for the operation of the mine and smelter at Pin Point. There is little doubt but that this is the most northerly hydro development in Canada, at least in a major way. Island Falls, where the Churchill is being harnessed, is 420 miles north of Winnipeg. A few years ago engineers who suggested that by 1929 the waters of the Churchill were producing electrical energy would have been looked upon as a visionary dreamer. That it has already come to pass is another proof of the striking reality with which the north country is being opened up. The dark waters of the Churchill, suggestive of fur traders, canoe brigades, trappers, and the maple syrup of the north, are being turned to the prosaic task of making wheels go around—Manitoba Free Press.

Stations In Antarctic Planned By Sir George Hubert Wilkins

Twelve meteorological stations in the Antarctic region are planned by Sir George Hubert Wilkins, explorer, to supply weather forecasts for all the world.

Wilkins announced the meteorological stations, when he was in California, en route to New York after three months in the Antarctic. The first station will be established at Deception Island when he returns there next November, Wilkins said. While in the Antarctic zone Wilkins said he discovered a tract of land which is not a peninsula of the Antarctic continent but a series of islands. Wilkins said he also discovered 1,000 miles of coast in the district west of the Weddell sea and was able to correct many geographical errors.

One is at Berens River, on the east side of Lake Winnipeg; one at Lac La Poudre, north of Prince Albert, and the third is at Pelee, near the mouth of the Pelican for construction of the station.

CHAPTER XV.

On the third day of Donald's convalescence he was able to leave his cabin. With his arm in a sling, his face pained with plaster, he made the rounds of the mill.

The men welcomed him with eager nods and smiles, many coming forward to shake his hand in silent respect. The big plant was now going at full blast, belts snapped, gears hummed, planes moved loudly, and the great saw ripped shrilly through the big logs in a raising crescendo of sound.

Down at the siding an engine bumped noisily into a long string of flat-cars piled high with lumber. With arms akimbo, his wet under-shirt clinging to his powerful torso, the mop of blond hair hanging down on his brow, Gillis stood surveying the heavily-laden cars with an air of complacency. The lumber handlers sat about in positions of weariness, mopping their hot faces.

Gillis smiled cheerfully as Donald approached.

"Good news for you, Donnie," he said.

"What is it, Jack?"

"Last load for the big steamer," replied Gillis, as he pointed at the moving train.

"We're on time, then," cried Donald gladly.

"One day ahead," corrected Gillis. The steamer came to the cab west down as the engine passed, and petioined his congratulations by shaking hands with himself.

The train galloped speed, and as the caboose rattled by, the conductor came to the rear platform.

"Good work, boys!" he shouted.

They stood watching the train until it struck the down grade and disappeared through the cut.

"Well, that's over," observed Gillis, as he sat down heavily and wiped the sweat from his face. He looked tired and worn, but the light of victory shone in his eyes.

"If it hadn't been for you, Jack," said Donald earnestly, "we would not have got out today."

"You look all in, you'd better have a good sleep."

"The big man's eyes brightened at Donald's praise.

"You don't look like you'd bin to a Sunday school picnic," replied Gillis with a chuckle.

As Donald walked up the hill the whistle blew for the noon-hour, and the men trooped past on their way to the dining-room. Blanche left the cabin and walked shamelessly to Donald's side.

"I'm sorry for the part I took in the strike," she said.

"I'll all right, Blanche," interrupted Donald, "you more than made up for it. We'll forget all about that."

Blanche's face wore a relieved glow as Donald gave his hand a friendly grip.

Men in logging camps are eaten out of their chairs by a good night's sleep. It is a business to be finished with as hurriedly as possible.

From the time the men are seated at the tables, and the dishes and the clatter of dishes and an occasional "pass the butter" are the only sounds.

A flood of rose dyed their tanned cheeks and their blue eyes felt in embarrassment. Andy patted her shoulder reassuringly.

"I'll never say a blinkin' word, Connie, an' you'st get nothin' on 'em."

Connie, who had been picked up by her gun and started the hills. Andy watched the pathetic little figure until she disappeared in the woods. For a moment he stood staring at nothingness, then, shaking his head sadly, he entered the cabin.

"She's a little brack, Andy," Donald spoke weakly from his bed.

Andy glared at him. "Brick!" he repeated sarcastically. "Is that all you big, bone-headed, blinkin' coon!"

Connie, who had been picked up by her gun and started the hills. Andy watched the pathetic little figure until she disappeared in the woods. For a moment he stood staring at nothingness, then, shaking his head sadly, he entered the cabin.

"What the devil does he mean?" puzzled Donald. He turned painfully to his side, swollen equally as painfully, then fell into a sound sleep.

Donald stirred as Andy applied the water, and his one good eye opened slowly. "Did I win?" he questioned weakly.

"You bet your blinkin' life you did. When Donald's gaze rested on Connie his face twisted into a wry smile. He reached for her hand and held it in a firm pressure. "Good little sport," he whispered through split lips.

Connie felt as though her heart would burst. She looked down her face, and it was with the utmost difficulty that she controlled the suffocating sobs that filled her throat.

The sound of the big mill whistle smote their ears in a wild melody of short, sharp blasts, quite unlike the decaying tone that summoned and dismissed the men.

"What's that?" asked Donald, attempting to sit up.

"The engineer is celebrating, Donnie. The men 'ave returned to work. The strike is broken."

"Ah!" sighed Donald happily as he fell back on the pillows.

The distant hum of a gas car gradually increased to a series of staccato explosions, then died out suddenly. They heard the light rumble of wheels as it drew to a stop at the station below. There was the sound of quick footsteps on the board sidewalk and the door opened to admit Dr. Paul. He crossed the room and took Donald's hand. "It's true," he asked incredulously, "that you whipped Ole Hand?"

"Strike me pink if I didn't," Andy roushanded.

"I've patched up Hand's victim's many times," the doctor stated, "but this is the first time that I have attended his victim, and I can assure Guard Against FLU—Sore Throat The First Warning.

Few families will escape. This epidemic constitutes a real danger. Health authorities everywhere warn the public of the danger of the common cold. "Flu" usually starts with a sore throat. Unless the germs are killed by some antiseptic treatment, a serious attack is inevitable. Therefore, the invention of Nerviline, a simple treatment is to gargle the throat three times daily with Nerviline. The antiseptic properties of Nerviline quickly destroy the germs in the throat. Of course if the chest is sore Nerviline should be rubbed over the affected area once or twice a day. It can't burn a blister, but will bring out the congestion and break up the cold.

To prevent "Flu" or colds from gaining headway Nerviline will prove most effective. It is hardly necessary to point out that the howls should be silenced. The system purged of all waste materials. For this purpose Dr. Hamilton's Pills are recommended. They act without griping or discomfort of any kind. This combination treatment of Nerviline and Dr. Hamilton's Pills will prove a very satisfactory prevention for Grippe, Flu, etc.

WINDOLITE The Improved Glass Substitute

MADE IN ENGLAND

COMES WITH A MESSAGE OF HEALTH

THE sun is the all-powerful life producer. Nature's universal disinfectant and purifier. It is the source of all life and health. WINDOLITE is the sun's most important ally.

Medical research has definitely proved that from the point of view of health and hygiene, the most effective among the sun's rays, are the Ultra-Violet rays, which possess the greatest power for the prevention and cure of disease and debility.

Science has further established that ordinary window glass does not allow the passage of Ultra-Violet rays so that by using glass we are actually excluding these vital life-giving rays. Therefore, the invention of WINDOLITE has completely satisfied the long-felt need.

It has conclusively proved that it is a most effective substitute for glass, that it really admits the Ultra-Violet rays, and that it is used as a most beautiful effect on the growth and development of plants and animals, and on the well-being of cattle, enabled for the first time to have healthy life instead of disease in their sheds.

Indeed, the discovery of WINDOLITE has during the last few years completely revolutionized gardening, given a new stimulus to poultry breeding, increasing the egg-laying capacity and fertility of chickens, has greatly improved the health of cattle and is now being used in domestic and household requirements.

WINDOLITE stands for 100 per cent. sunlight. It makes light still strong without rays, daisy stables, poultry houses, brooders and all buildings. It is economical, unbreakable, flexible and is easy to cut and drill. It is now being successfully used for greenhouses, verandas, schools, factories, hospitals, sanitariums, hot beds, plant houses and greenhouses. It keeps out cold—will not crack or chip—cuts with an ordinary pair of scissors and is easy to fit. WINDOLITE is supplied in rolls any length but in one width of 24 inches only. A square yard of glass of ordinary thickness weighs about 125 to 130 lbs. The improved WINDOLITE requires only 15 lbs. weight.

Spaghett should not be cooked too long. About ten inches is O. K.

We are able to quote you a price of $117.00 now on 15-30 H. P. Me-Dr. tractors, a reduction of $20.00.

And now that that spam is over we'll give you some more upset slogans:

"Keep That School-girl Complexion!"

Gem Razors

"The Paper is Part of the Future!"

Douglas Shoes

"Good Equipment Makes a Good Farmer Better."

"The Placitor Lasts"—Squibb's Tasteless Castor Oil.

"It is the greatest work horse I have ever had," said Harry Carter in talking about his Me-Dr. tractor.

We have some new Copper Carbamate treaters on hand, 50 bus. capacity and sell for $38.00. Also our first shipment of copper carbamate has arrived and selling at 10c per pound this year.

How to Fill Horses

If you will fill a tub half full of water then pour in just about enough oil to cover your harness, you can dip your harness in the water, and as it comes out it will gather just enough oil to make it soft and pliable. Or if you have the harness should first be scraped free of all grease or dirt cloth.

There may be other good places to buy farm machines, but why waste your time hunting for them? We are here to serve.

One half of the world doesn't know how the other half keeps its legs from freezing.

Because the growth of a colt makes during its first year largely determines the size and endurance of the full-grown animal, and because it costs much less to put 10 pounds of weight on a colt than it does on a full-grown horse, it pays to feed your colts well.

Don't by any chance miss the next big dance in the new hall. Les. Crane and his Canadians are supplying the music. Nuff said.

none at all. Give your hens lots of warm water and have them produce eggs when prices are high. Over one third of the solid part of a hen's egg (that is one-third of all the egg except the water it contains) is composed of two minerals—Lime (Calcium) and Phosphorus. They are found in very small amounts in most farm feeds. The other two-thirds are made chiefly of carbon, nitrogen and sulphur, these minerals are abundant in your ordinary feeds.

Poultrymen have long known the importance of lime for egg shell and know the need of phosphorus in producing eggs. Oyster shell, this natural mineral feed is produced from vast deposits of lime and phosphorus in the exact proportions suited for poultry needs (Tri-Calcium phosphate is a food). Oyster shell is free from conglomeration of chemicals or drugs. It is a food and should be used as such. Use Oyster shell in your poultry mash and feeds, it builds up bones in your young chicks, develops large frames for heavy egg layers, supplies the needed egg producing material and makes hard-shelled hatchable eggs. Mix 5 pounds to every 100 pounds of mash. Have a supply of clean Oyster Shell in the hopper at all times.

Charcoal is very essential for the health of your flock as it removes gases from the grain and sterilizes the food consumed. One pound of powder charcoal mixed in 100 pounds of mash, will help to keep your flock in a healthy condition summer or winter. Grit is necessary for Poultry as they have no teeth and should have a hopper with clean grit at all times.

Feeding Hens For Egg Production

We think of feed primarily in the production of eggs, and sometimes forgetting, however, that the egg composed of 65 per cent water. A liberal intake of water will increase egg production by stimulating feed consumption and giving the necessary for egg formation. Warm water is one of the primary essentials of winter egg production. When the flock goes off feed in a cold spell, egg production drops considerably, this is caused by the water being too cold or
